

SUBSTITUTES: Please list your choice of substitutes in case any varieties have recently sold out or are not suitable for your climate. If you prefer no substitutes, please indicate on your order form.

YOUR "WISH LIST": Please share your "wish list" with us – we will do our best to accommodate your request if we can!

TIME OF SHIPMENT: We send orders as soon as possible, however we ask you to please allow up to 3 weeks during our peak periods. Orders are usually received within 3-4 working days once despatched. Delivery is by Australia Post

COLOURS: Please note that whilst every effort is made to achieve true colours in our images it is difficult to reproduce some colours accurately, especially purple/mauve shades. May we suggest you access "Google" and click on "Images", and key in the name (eg: daylily Magic Obsession) to compare colours of other images. You will see how much variation can occur in colour photographic reproductions.

ORDER WITH CONFIDENCE:

OUR GUARANTEE

If you are not happy with your plants on arrival, please contact us and explain your concerns. Where agreed, we will either replace the plants, credit your account, or refund your money.
If your plants look fine on arrival and you follow our growing instructions, but they do not perform according to reasonable expectations within 12 months, please contact us by phone and we will offer advice. Where agreed, we will replace the plants.

WHERE TO PLANT The ideal location is in a sunny, well drained position where they will receive at least 6 or 7 hours of sunlight (or more in Tas, Vic, SA and Sthn WA). Make sure there will be no competition from roots of trees or other vigorous plants (such as agapanthus). Protection from the hot afternoon sun is advised in areas that experience very high temperatures in summer.

SOIL PREPARATION Daylilies like a soil which has old manures or compost added to it, and which is mulched. Hay, pine bark, cane trash, or old animal manures are suitable mulches. Mushroom compost is not recommended. Avoid planting them in parts of your garden where other plants have not grown well—particularly gerberas, chrysanthemums, and roses.

HOW TO PLANT A daylily is NOT a bulb and should not be treated like one. Plant your daylilies so that the stump of the foliage is at the soil surface, and sprinkle fine soil over the roots. The crown should be about an inch below the surface. Press it down firmly and water it in well to remove any air bubbles. Do not over-water at this time - just once a week is sufficient. Plant the large flowered varieties at least 60 cm apart and the small-flowered at least 40 cm apart. If planting them in pots on your sunny patio, use pots at least 25cm to 30cm diameter and a top quality potting mix that is free-draining.

FERTILISING About a week after planting, apply a cupful of a well-balanced organic fertiliser to the soil surface, no closer than 15cm (6") from the plant and out to 50 cm, and then apply 10 cm (4") of mulch. Layers of newspaper can be spread on the soil surface first. A popular organic fertiliser available nationwide is Dynamic Lifter Plus, or similar products like Organic Extra or Organic Life can be applied every three months. A handful of lime per square metre per year is very beneficial. If you can find a source of worm castings in your area, these are excellent.
